

Agency Backend Technology Services Provider

Extension to your Technology Department

What if there is an IT company providing technology services for agency, which is small enough to be your sub contractor, more established, long term and stable than a freelance?

We can work with your agency and synergize our focus areas, provide a deeper engagement and long term value for you and your customers. From outside its all integrated under one agency that is yours, from inside it is an independent cost centres there by providing focus to your business.

Nothing is too big or too small for us. a form with a database, a whole CRM system, a customer ecommerce store, Enterprise Consulting, custom consulting, maintenance, project take over and maintenance, a guardian IT services provider for projects which has reached your minimum yield. All Technology Services available on demand.

Sivrin Technologies is founded by a programmer who like you worked in an Agency for half dozen years as a programmer. All the delicate details of Agency business are right built in to our delivery process, most importantly our IT minds will fit gently with your agency minds due to the fact that we evolved from the same agency fraternity.
